RECORD RAINFALL SHOWN BY WEATHER GAUGE AT LOCK FOUR

Almost Four Inches Recorded in 24 Hours from 8 A. M. Wednesday

FINE ROADWAY IS DESTROYED

The storm which passed over the Monongahela Valley Wednesday afternoon and evening left considerable wreckage in its wake in the way of ruined roads and gardens. The precipitation was the heaviest in years, the rain gauge at Lock No. 4, maintained by the United States Weather Bureau, showing that in the 24 hours from Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock to the same hour Thursday morning the rainfall was 3.95 inches. Heavy rainfalls were reported from all other stations along the river, and as a consequence the river is expected to reach flood height. The force at Lock No. 4 was preparing this morning to strip the locks of all moveable property.

Possibly the most serious damage reported was the destruction of a portion of the concrete highway located in Allegheny county, opposite Monongahela between Axelson and Bunola. A heavy landslide from the hill above the road at a point about 100 yards below the river bridge came down late yesterday afternoon, completely destroying a section of the road for a distance of 40 or 50 feet. Not only the concrete wall but the concrete roadway was swept down on to the Lake Erie tracks, blocking traffic on the railroad for time and putting the highway completely out of commission. It is estimated that it will take at least a week for the county to remove the immense pile of debris which came down from the hillside, while the repair to the road will require several weeks to complete. In the meantime the highway will be useless for traffic.

The Pigeon creek branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad is also blocked and it will likely be late this evening before it will be possible to run trains. Slides from the hillsides near Frye station and Hazel Rink completely blocked the road, and it will take a lot of work to restore normal conditions. Reports from a number of country districts say that gardens were washed out, while roadways were piled high with debris in a number of places, which will make travel difficult for a number of days. Slides from the hill in the "Narrows" below Lock Four compelled the Pennsylvania railroad to shut off traffic on the south bound track between Bamford tower and Charleroi, all trains being shunted over on to the north bound track. In spite of this difficulty, however, passenger trains were running about schedule, although freights were delayed somewhat. Last night the "West Virginian," from Fairmont, was delayed for several hours because of trouble on the railroad south of Brownsville.

The telephone and electric light systems were both disarranged con-

Many Good Features in Last Day Program of S.S. Convention

The second day of the Sunday school convention will open at 8:30 o'clock Friday morning with a praise service lasting 15 minutes, after which Dr. Hogue will occupy fifteen minutes. Following music the convention will have a 15-minute business session, after which A. K. Stokeland will speak on "Service Through Preparation." At 10:10 the Children's Division Conference will be held, at which time the value of handwork will be emphasized. Delegates are requested to bring pencil, paste and scissors. At 10:15 Rev. E. W. Thornton, D. D. will speak on "The Chance of a Life," and at 10:45 the Divisional Conferences will begin. At the noon hour a dinner to the teacher training division will be served, with Prof. G. P. Dunkelberg on the list for a toast. The afternoon session will begin at 1:30 with a praise service to be followed by Dr. Hogue and an address by Dr. Thornton. At 2:30 convention business and at 3 o'clock an address by Hon. John W. Vickerman of Bellevue. At 3:45 Divisional Conferences are scheduled for children, young people and adults with a demonstration of a monthly workers' conference. The final session of the convention will convene at 7:30 with a farewell praise service and at 7:45 Rev. Homer C. Renton, D. D., will speak on Personality. At 8:15 a home department pageant, "The Crown of Service," and the convention will adjourn at 9 o'clock.

PROPOSED COAL EMBARGO MAY AFFECT COAL TRADE IN VALLEY

EXODUS OF ALIENS IS STILL UNDER WAY

The great hosts of foreigners who are seeking to return to their native lands from the districts in and around Brownsville are reaching alarming proportions. Twenty-five left Brownsville on Monday, and about ten left on Tuesday, and about the same number on Wednesday. Among these leaving are many Slovaks, but the greater proportion of them are Italians.

Export Demands So Heavy That Prices Are At a High Point

CAR SUPPLY IS VERY POOR

While it does not seem possible that an embargo on coal exports will react against the present high price level, either immediately or in the near future, the announcement from Washington on Tuesday evening that government agencies were considering restricting coal to domestic use, will cause some concern, if not considerable apprehension, among brokers, jobbers and operators who have participated in the active export business of the past few weeks. All authorities agree that the coal situation throughout the country is now and will remain so for some time in such a condition that every ton produced will find a ready market. The export embargo, however, if put into effect, will mean that producers or their agents with coal at the pier or on the way carrying an export figure, must necessarily be diverted to domestic consumers and in that adjustment it is quite possible that concessions will be made in the scramble to place the tonnage. An insistent export demand for coal within the past month has driven coal to its highest price in history and the realization that, with the railroads in their chaotic state, certain sections of the country must be "coaled" before winter sets in, has come to the general impression that high prices for coal will prevail all summer at least. Present coal prices vary according to quality, but little if any is being sold in the open market at less than $8 and sales are reported as high as $9. Where the car number can be given the seller can name his own figure. While it is reported that large producers are protecting their regular customers at prices considerably below that figure there seems little doubt that the high price range will obtain for some time to come and future contracts will in a degree, at least, conform to them.

The demand for coal from the New England states is insistent, while a pooling arrangement has been entered into for the shipment of coal to the lakes. Car placements during the past week or so for coal have been quite low, the average running from 23 to 31 per cent of the requirements, which shows that rolling stock is away below the legitimate demands of the operators.

RIVER TRADE IS SHOWING REVIVAL

Pittsburg papers call attention to the great increase of tonnage now shipped by water, which heretofore had been scrapped by rail. According to figures furnished by the United States Engineer's office at Pittsburg the tonnage during the past three or four months has steadily increased, with the figures still on the upward trend. The amount carried in April by the river packets exceeded March by 1,000 tons, while that handled during May was more than double that of the previous month. Three wharves are now in use along the Pittsburg wharf in order to accommodate the packets which are now operating in and out of that port, and on Tuesday morning six packets were discharging and receiving freight from lower river points. Now an effort is being made to revive the river trade on the Monongahela, with the steamers of City of Charleston scheduled to make regular trips each week between Pittsburg and Fairmont. Of course it will depend on the amount of business received by this venture as to the success of the undertaking.

An important phrase of this situation is the fact that river terminals in many of the towns are not in very good condition and offer no inducement to shippers to haul freight and from such wharves as are provided. Years ago, when the packet service was a regular thing on the Monongahela all wharves were kept in good condition, at least better than they are now, but the absence of the packets for so many years has caused many of the municipalities to allow these terminals to fall into decay. As a consequence they are in bad condition and unless they are repaired the efforts of those interested in reviving trade on the river are going to have but scant returns.

WILL RESTRICT THE USE OF FIRECRACKERS

Appearance of firecrackers in stores and with some already getting into the possession of Young America has resulted in orders being issued by the Mayor of Uniontown to the police department restricting the use of fireworks to the days of Saturday this year, but it is the purpose of the Uniontown authorities to restrict the use of firecrackers to Saturday and Monday.

WEDDING BELLS AT LOCK NO. FOUR

June 16, 1920, at the home of the bride in North Charleroi, by the Rev. E. H. Greenlee pastor of the First M. E. church, Lester W. Plot of Akron, Ohio, and Helen K. Arter of Lock Four.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Victor Quinaup of VanVoorhis, Sunday, June 13—a son.

TO CHECK UP ON REVENUE TAX RETURNS

During the next two months it is the purpose of the government to conduct in this and every other section of the county, an intensive drive for the collection of delinquent sales and other miscellaneous taxes, such as the so-called luxury tax, the soft drink tax, on jewelry and works of art, and the tax on toilet articles and proprietary medicines. Reports of laxity on the part of dealers and other persons responsible for the return and collection of these taxes reached the Internal Revenue Bureau from many sources.

The drive will be under the immediate supervision of Collectors of Internal Revenue, and is expected to result in the collection of millions of dollars in delinquent taxes and penalties.

Information from the Sales Tax Unit of the Bureau of Internal Revenue is that many dealers in soft drinks and ice cream either are keeping no record of the amount of tax collections from such sales, or that the record is insufficient or incorrect.

It is the intention to conduct as thorough and as effective a campaign as possible in such way as to bring justice to wilful violators, and cause no embarrassment to merchants and business men who honestly are endeavoring to comply with the revenue laws. Discovery of evidence to show wilful tax evasion will be followed by prosecution. In flagrant cases the bureau will urge the imposition of extreme penalties.

UNIONTOWN FIXES RATES FOR OUTSIDERS' TUITION

At a special meeting of the school board of the Uniontown school district, held Monday evening, tuition rates to be charged pupils outside the district were fixed for the coming term. For outside pupils attending the first to fifth grades, $4 per month for those attending the sixth, seventh and eighth grades, $4.50 per month; for those attending high school $9 per month. The board reserves the right to give preference to pupils from districts where there is no high school in case all applicants cannot be accommodated.

Considerably by the storm, but repairs are rapidly getting the lines back into shape.

"JAKY" SELLERS ARE CONVICTED IN COURT

Sale of Jamaica ginger was held to be avocation of the Brooks liquor law in a verdict returned Tuesday evening in the Uniontown courts before Judge Reppert, finding Frank Williams and Rosy Williams guilty of selling liquor without a license. The case was the first of a number to be tried during this week, the prosecutions growing out of the Jamaica ginger traffic in Uniontown. They are held by the district attorney to be the most important submitted to juries this term of court.

The case went to the jury on the evidence submitted by commonwealth witnesses and the court's charge. No evidence was submitted in behalf of the defendants and no arguments were made either from the viewpoint of the state or of the defendant. Judge Reppert in his charge told the jury the only question they should determine was whether Jamaica ginger was an alcoholic liquor.

BROWNSVILLE TO BAN THE PIG NOISANCE

Brownsville council is about to take steps to abolish pig pens within the borough limits. From recent accounts the situation has become somewhat acute of late, and many protests have been made to councilmen to relieve the situation. However, nothing was done until the officials of the Red Cross moved in the matter and brought conditions to the attention of the board of health, who presented it to council for action.

It appears that the ordinance which governs the keeping of pigs in Brownsville borough was somewhat loosely administered during the war, and apparently there were those who believed that such conditions could continue indefinitely. However, residents were of a different opinion and protests resulted. Now council proposes to have the ordinance enforced and the pugstys will have to go, which will restore pre-war conditions, for which many of the people of that community will be thankful.

STORM DELAYED THE CONVENTION OPENING

It was 11 o'clock this morning before the first session of the twenty-fifth annual meeting of the Washington County Sabbath School Association could get under way at the High school auditorium. Delegates were slow in arriving because of the condition of transportation lines in many sections of the county, and those who were present at 11 o'clock Irvin H. Mack, musical director, and Bentley D. Ackley, pianist, did not arrive until 11 o'clock, but were not in time for the opening exercises. They were held up by reason of conditions on transportation lines.

However, President Kunkleman made substitutions for those who were not present, and Rev. Mr. Greenlee, pastor of the M. E. church, led the devotions. Owing to the lateness of the hour it was necessary to omit some features of the program which had been scheduled for this morning. Quite a number of additional delegates arrived just after the convention opened and many more are expected this afternoon from the outlying districts of the county. It is anticipated that quite a number who had expected to come because of conditions left by the storm. A good attendance is expected, however, for this afternoon and all succeeding sessions of the convention.

Notice P. H. C. Members All members are urged to be present Friday evening June 18. Nomination of officers and other important business.

R. A. Conneli, President 1122

Ladies of the First Presbyterian church who have promised to donate pies and coldslaw for meals to be furnished delegates to the Sunday school convention are requested to send them to the High School auditorium not later than 11 o'clock Friday. 10-12

Prof. T. L. Pollock will go to California this evening to make the farewell address before the Clonian literary society of the Normal school. This address is for benefit of the members of the society who are members of the graduating class.
